

My family and I have listened to K-LOVE radio for five to six years. I have become a financial supporter of the station since I feel strongly about keeping a family-friendly station on the air. I enjoy the news and especially the positive news at the end of each of the newscasts that occur approximately twice per hour. There is too much negative news in the media, but K-LOVE helps me to feel better about our world.

The main reason I started listening to the radio station is the music. It does not contain any offensive language and the beat, melody, and rhythm are on par with popular music. Many of the lyrics come straight from the Bible. I am constantly amazed at how much of the I learn from the lyrics.

I play contemporary Christian music in a band and encourage others to listen to K-LOVE radio. It really is positive and encouraging along with informative and entertaining. The pastors on staff with the radio station are available for people who need someone to talk to who may be contemplating suicide.

I do not believe that community advisory boards would be beneficial. Advisory boards represent the views of the members who are often united in their agendas, not the wishes of the community. The listeners who support the station with their donations speak louder than any advisory board.

Running a radio station takes a lot of money. Many people like to listen, but are not willing or cannot support the station. Adding staffing to local stations would place a greater financial burden on the supporters of the stations and when the burden cannot be carried, cause some of the stations to go off the air.

First come, first serve. Existing stations should have priority. K-LOVE has a proven record and should not be forced off the air. Many of the popular stations which are funded by commercials play songs with lyrics that encourage people to rebel against authority. K-LOVE is not this way. K-LOVE has a proven record of being community friendly.

Please do not pass this proposed regulation.
